

October 2011

Remove Newsletter

Open Morning

Thank you to all those girls who came in on Saturday to help with Open Morning. The many Removes who helped were all fantastic ambassadors for the College. It is great to see how much they've all grown in confidence in just the first few weeks of term.

Lockers

As many of you may know, the locker room for Removes was built over the summer holiday. It is much more convenient than before because the girls can access their lockers without having to go into classrooms and disturb lessons (Sixth Form lessons, for example, are often taking place while the Lower School are in break times). The lockers themselves are pretty spacious though the room itself is rather more bijoux! The girls and I have come up with a schedule of access for 3.30pm to try and reduce the crush at this peak time but we will perhaps have to try a few different systems to ensure things are working smoothly.

Medieval Minds

We will use this newsletter to let you know about what the girls are doing in various subjects through the year. I teach all the Removes history and this half term our big enquiry question is "How much can we find out about medieval people's lives?" We've been looking at all sorts of contemporary and later sources to try and build a picture of the medieval world. Over the next couple of weeks the girls will be making board games which draw together some of their knowledge on the topic.

Kip in the College

You should by now have had your letter about this exciting forthcoming event. We'd love to see as many of the Remove as possible taking part.

Homework

The girls all have a homework timetable which tells them which day they should do each piece of work. A task should take 20 minutes (although English is 40 minutes a week). Please do sign your daughter's diary each week and do get in touch if there are any problems. Form tutors are usually the best first port of call on this.

We aim to produce newsletters at the start of each month so do look out for the next one in early November.

Best wishes

Mrs Henderson

